Connecting the Church Calendar, 101 Meditations for Church Seasons

If you are like me, you didn't grow up in a liturgical church; you may not even know what a liturgical church is.

A liturgical church is one that follows church seasons beginning with Advent and ending with Pentecost. In each season, there are prescribed Bible readings that focus on the season. In addition, pastor's vestments and altar coverings change with the season.

Connecting the Church Calendar is a simple explanation and application of church seasons in a series of meditations.

The meditations include: Bible passages, traditional hymns, clergy descriptions of important information about the seasons, laypersons (men and women) perspective on the season, parables, people, and plants.

Importantly, each season contains a beautiful photograph that depicts the church season. Most photographs were taken by Jim Forney, a talented Christian man.

Endorsement

Connecting the Church Calendar

The church seasons with their beauty, depth of meaning, discipline, and hope are God's gift to all of us. And, at just the right time, the kairos moment, God gives us Carolyn Roth and her 101 meditations to renew and revitalize our understanding and practice of these seasons. In Connecting the Church Calendar, Dr. Roth and collaborators provide an exceptional and timely gift, a unique vehicle for rediscovering the power and beauty of liturgical worship using the church calendar.

Perspective

Connecting the Church Calendar

In the liturgical year, we live life with Jesus day-after-day until finally one day, Jesus's life becomes our own. When we integrate the church calendar into our lives, we become the message of Jesus. Our lives become the seasons of the church year. We are members of the cast in the greatest drama of all time — the life of Christ and his Church on earth.
